NURSING

ABOUT

The Bachelor of Science in Nursing program is one of the fastest-growing programs at SNU. Since 1982, Southern Nazarene University's liberal arts-based program has been preparing well-rounded graduates to work as professional nurses in today's fast-paced, technologically advanced healthcare environment. Given the increasing complexity of patients in a rapidly transforming healthcare system, preparing nurses to enter the profession and be successful in the field is vital. A goal of the university and the SNU School of Nursing is to prepare nurses to be servant leaders, focusing on the growth and well-being of the people and the communities where they live and work. Feedback from employers about SNU graduates include that they are well-prepared, compassionate, caring, and have a drive to learn how to best take care of their patients.

"I feel like my calling in life is to help as many people as possible, and Nursing allows me to do that. I'm so excited about the cadaver lab and clinicals as well as meeting new people and helping them in the hospital. My goal is to become a traveling or pediatric nurse working in different hospitals in different states."
